Gambro signs exclusive distribution agreement with Source Medical Corporation

Denver, Colo. — Gambro has entered into an exclusive agreement with Source Medical for distribution of Gambro's products in Canada. The agreement is effective May 4, 2009. Source Medical is Canada's largest healthcare distributor with seven distribution centers located across Canada.

Under the terms of the agreement, Source Medical will provide logistics, warehousing, distribution, inventory management and customer service for Gambro's Canadian customers. Gambro retains the primary customer relationships and complete responsibility for negotiating and maintaining all key aspects of the customer relationships including terms and conditions, contracting, clinical support and field service support.

"The agreement with Source Medical, a division of Cardinal Health Canada, gives our customers efficient access to the products they need to deliver life-saving treatments," said Nick Mendez, Gambro President for the Americas. "Source Medical brings additional distribution centers, a streamlined supply chain, and proven customer service centers so hospitals will receive the service they have come to expect from Gambro."

"Partnering with Gambro Canada provides Source Medical with a recognized worldwide leader in dialysis and extracorporeal therapies. Our mutual customer base will now be provided with Source Medical's leading logistic services as well as Gambro's world recognized products," said Source Medical and Cardinal Health Canada's President & CEO, David Lees.
